

To our valued clients and friends:

At Adelfia LLC, the welfare of our clients and staff are our highest priority. The Coronavirus (COVID-19) is dominating the news cycle, and it must also be dominating your personal and professional conversations. Adelfia LLC is no different and we are actively implementing our response to this situation.

As of today, the majority of our employees are working remotely. We have business continuity plans in place that enable us to continue to provide a high level of service as our team works remotely. These plans include the use of various technologies, as we remain committed to delivering the service that you are accustomed to receiving. We will continue to receive mails at our office.

Our firm exists to protect our clients' businesses and help you manage through the most complex of challenges. During this period, we will be available to you as always via phone and email. Please do not hesitate to reach out.

Sincerely,

Stella Marie Santos, CPA
Managing Partner
